Inclusive Leadership: Unconscious Bias Training

This Diversity and Inclusion series will enable leaders and employees to understand, identify, and manage their own unconscious biases. Today, many businesses value and leverage pattern recognition based on limited information. While this is a huge strength for employees and businesses, it could also adversely influence our decision-making for vital issues such as, hiring, promoting, developing people, and engaging with clients.

Your employees will leave this course equipped with specific strategies and tactics that they can apply in the workplace to maximize intuitive strengths and minimize harmful and unintended biases.
